Operations Jump 11.9 To 50.9, Best Since Last July 4

AUTO INDUSTRY MARKS INCREASE

"More Business Improvement" Seen By Various Lines

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Jan. 7 .- The nation went back to work this week after the New Year's recess, and industrial activity began snapping back to pre-holiday levels.

Operations of the nation's steel mills, an indicator of business undertone, jumped 11.9 points to 50.9 per cent of capacity, the sharpest upturn since the rebound after the last Fourth-of-July holiday week. Operations currently are the best since last October, and compare with 25.6 per cent a year ago.

Autos Show Gain

Automobile production at 76,685 cars also marked up a gain, showing a rise of 1.470 over the previous week and 22,601 over last year.

It was indicated that electric production and railway freight loadings for the past week also would show post-holiday recoveries.

Residential construction, cotton mill activity, and woolen mill operations were reported accelerating after holiday lulls.

Retail and wholesale buying while not heavy compared with the Christmas shopping days of the preceding fortnight, averaged from 2 to 6 per cent above last year in dollar volume, a second consecutive rise over the like period a year earlier, according to Dun & Brad-

Miss Cecilia L. Schulz.

She has observed that when you are suddenly up against the prospect of going to bed for a while—whether because of a germ, a surgeon, a baby, an accident, or a rest there are the rules:

The hints for the amateur nurse, however, are worth noting. We can't all afford trained ones, so let's make the amateurs as good as possible.

Here are the rules: there are all sorts of questions which keep hammering in your head, and nobody has time or pa-tience to answer them. So she has given some blanket advice to one

She starts off with the tried and true one of "Don't feel sorry for yourself." Self-pity retards your recovery and is the forerunner of a

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his depressed state of mind. "Don't be afraid to be afraid" sounds like a contradiction of the first, but Miss Schulz is right when she says it is not fear of pain that sends the new-sick into a lather. It is fear of the unknown. So ask about things. Doctors, I find, are so used to a routine that they forget the patient doesn't know about it, and Miss Schulz thinks there are very few natural "good" patients. You may think you are a good patient. but the chances are you have guessed wrong. There are only three kinds of natural good patients: (1) the born optimist (they usually do not come out in the end quite as successfully as they thought they would); (2) this class lacks imagination-they are good patients because they accept what comes their way with the impassivity of an oyster, (3) the adventurers; they like a stay in the hospital because it is new and exciting. And do they bring stories home when they get

"HOW TO Enjoy Ill Health" is have the professional nurse's poker a very sensible book, in spite of its smarty title, by a trained nurse, Miss Cecilia L. Schulz.

Here are the rules:

(1) Wear an easily-laundered, starched white uniform so you will rustle just like a real nurse. Also wear low-heeled, comfortable shoes. (2) Never whisper in or around the sick room. Whispering is nerve-racking to the sick; they think you're talking about how ill they

(3) Keep a record. Record temperature, pulse, general condition appetite, excretions, medicaments

(4) Don't "entertain" the patient. Silences in the sick room are restful (5) Ask the doctor for directions regarding visitors and visiting

(6) Work out a routine and stick to it-about baths, meals, visitors, naps, treatments, etc.

(7) Serve meals punctually.
(8) For feeding fluids get straw sippers used at drug store counters;

they are more appetizing and clean er than glass tubes. Miss Schulz also has somethin to say about visitors to the sick. you are a prospective patient of prospective patient's relative, think you will like her book.

school at 9:45 a. m.; Sunday Matthew 16:13-25; Charles Youtz, uperintendent. Having the right understanding of Jesus Christ is a very important matter. He was more than a teacher of high morals. He was more than prophet. He was more than a kind and merciful healer. He was. s and ever shall be the Son of God, the only Savior of men Jesus means Savior. Christ means annointed or messiah. Our Lord Jesus is both. The confession of Peter, not Peter himself, is the foundation stone of the Christian Church. The Church is not built upon human beings; it is built upon the proper faith in Jesus Christ. The rebuke that Jesus gave Peter forever proclaims that Christ is the Head of the Church and faith in Him make: the Church eternal

"In Rome, you must be a Roman," is not to apply to the Christian in this world. There must be something about the life and faith of Christian people that make them distinct and different from the sons and daughters of the world. #### Christian Science Society Services

"Sacrament" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will read at the morning worship of the Christian Science Society tomorrow. The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WCLE (610 kil.)) Cleveland every Sunday at 11 a. m.

Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years will be held at 9:30 a. m. while on Wednesday the midweek service will be held at the church at 8 p. m. The Golden Text is. "The bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world" (John 6:33).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the fol-lowing from the Bible: "The preparations of the heart in man, and the answer of the tongue, is from Meeting To Speak the Lord ... All the ways of a man are clean in his own eyes; but the Lord weigheth the spirits" (Proverbs 16:12.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the ence and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If good enough to profit by Jesu cup of earthly sorrows, God will sustain us under these sorrows. ## Probe Fire That Killed Four

New York authorities are holding an arson suspect following this tenement fire in which four persons died. Flames swept the five-story building with such speed that the lives of all 200 occupants were threatened. Firemen rescued many with aerial ladders. William LeClare (inset) warned his wife to flee while he fought the flames outside their rooms, but she hesitated too long and perished.

Grace Moore Defends Curtsy

Grace Moore, opera and movie star, returning to New York with her husband, Valentin Parera, defended her curtsy during a concert at Cannes to the Duchess of Windsor, wife of former King Edward VII of England. The gesture usually is reserved for royalty. "She would have been a royal duchess now if it weren't for the fact she's an American woman," Miss Moore declared.

London's Unemployed Stage Lie-Down

London's recent blizzard failed to halt this demonstration by the unemployed. At the height of the cold snap they invaded busy Oxford Circus, lay down on the street and covered themselves with placards demanding "Work or Bread." They tied up all traffic until persuaded by Bobbies to "tell their story walking."

Rockets still were dazzling. Ball State, the Muncie, Ind., cage quintet, succeeded by the proverbial hair's breadth last night in stopping the sensational Ohio contingent, 42 to 41.

Ball, playing the home court, turned the trick by freezing the ball in the final minutes of playrefuge of the desperate.

Ball held a 42 to 30 lead with three minutes to go. Then Chuck Chuckqvits and his cohorts cut lease a basket barrage that netted 11 points in two minutes Obviously bewildered, the Indianans clung to the sphere and awaited the gun.

Chuckovits turned in his customary performance, caging seven field goals and 10 free throws for 24 points.

In an overtime Ohio conference battle, Findlay nosed out Kent State, 44 to 38. Guard Bob Snoddy sank the decisive goal. The Staters held a 22 to 19 half-time lead. Renninger shone for the victors with 17 units.

Marietta took a rousing loop encounter from Wittenberg, 45 to 41. Marietta led at the half, 20-19. Heskett, Wittenberg forward, copped scoring honors with five field goals and four gift shots.

Case, boosting its consecutive victories to four, drubbed John Carroll at Cleveland, 36 to 39. in another conference tilt. Car-roll had an 18-15 advantage at intermission.

Western Reserve's Red Cats rallied in the final half to defeat a stubborn Baldwin-Wallace outfit, 48 to 35, fifth straight loss for the Yellow Jackets.

Xavier breezed to a 41 to 36 win over St. Joseph college of Indiana, holding the invaders in check from the start. DeSales of Toledo easily humbled Wilmington, 58 to 43.

Dover Converts 15 of 19 Free Throws To Take Measure of Quakers; Crimson Pulls Into Lead In Second Period, Holds It

Coach Herbert H. Brown probably feels today that the 'jinx" Dover High school basketball teams hold over his teams is never going to end.

For the fifth straight season a Brown-coached team went down to defeat before a Dover quintet last night as Salem High school's Quakers dropped a 29 to 23 decision to the Crimson before more than 1,000 people who jammed the high school gym to witness the most thrilling game played here this season. day night and traveling to Youngs-

The defeat was the second in four games for the Quakers, their previous loss having been handed them last week by the Alumni, 30 to 21.

Although they outscored the Quakers from the field, the Crimson won the game from the foul line where they made 15 of their 19 gift shots. Dover's performance from the field was only slightly better than the Quakers. They made Swinderman ..... seven field goals to Salem's six.

Epenshie he came through in dragging down rebounds and connected for three field goals after taking the ball off the Vlad backboard. He added four points from the foul line to top the Quakers individual point-making with markers, one more point than he had scored in three previous games. Schaeffer failed to connect on any of the shots he attempted from the pivot position, but this was unimportant compared to the fact that for the first time of the cam paign he was shooting free and easy from the swivel post.

Prison Official on Trial

John R. K. Scott and Deputy Warden Frank A. Craven

First of 10 accused Holmesburg county, Philadelphia, prison officials to face a jury in connection with the death of four convicts in the prison last summer, Deputy Warden Frank A. Craven, right, is pictured with his attorney, John R. K. Scott. Craven is accused of manslaughter. The convicts were alleged to have been literally "cooked" to death in the "Klondike" section of the prison when steam was turned on during a prison strike.

'Red School' Houses Go Under Hammer life today to a pupil.

LISBON. Jan. 7.-Replaced by he more modern school busses and centralized buildings, two more of the county's picturesque "little red school houses" will go under the hammer soon at a public auction.

The Center township trustees have decided to sell the Union school house, south of Lisbon on the Black road, and the Bowman school, four miles west of the county seat The schools were abandoned four years ago and the pupils are now transported to Lisbon on busses.

The site of the Union school is in itigation so that only the building will be sold. An acre of ground goes with the Bowman school.

Chase Prairie "Dogs" In Automobiles In Western Kansas

SYRACUSE, Kas. - Riding to the hounds is a favorite sport in Western Kansas, but as often as not the hunters make the chase in automobiles speeding across the prairie, instead of on horseback. There are no foxes to hunt, but covotes are plentiful and there are always plenty of jackrabbits when the coyotes are scarce.

Much of Western Kansas is open range country, and automobiles can easily run on the sodded prairie.

The devotees of coyote hunting are not as fastidious as their aristocratic fox-hunting brothers, and there are no scruples as to dress or equestrian technique.

Chasing coyotes is a thoroughly democratic sport and they are hunted by sportsmen on cow ponies, in cars and on motorcycles. Recently in a coyote hunt near Coolidge, Kas., five men in two cars shot five coyotes.

Ben Cory of Syracuse, who par-ticipated in the hunt, said the thrill of hunting from an automomile exceeds that of hunting on horseback.

The technique, he said, is simple. The coyctes are chased into a clearing by dogs, and then the hunters start the chase, often driving across the prairie at 50 miles an

The problem is to catch the coyotes and shoot them before they find cover in rough terrain
